

RIMA

You move LIGHT moves you new.

Intuitive, sensual and individual - such attributes seem perfectly natural when it comes to describing the new lighting concept of the RIMA desk luminaire. It was this remark that Designer Matthias Pinkert had in mind, along with simpleness and clarity when designing the timeless shape language of the luminaire. In ancient mythology, RIMA was known as a spirit of light. In reality, it sheds high-quality, warm-white light based on state-of-the-art LED technology and epitomizes the soul of a new generation of luminaires, sending humans into a fascinating relationship with light and space.

A total of 56 LEDs sit on a light strip like pearls on a string. Four rings fitted around it allow for drawing, moving and closing multiple light areas - just like a curtain - by simply moving the rings continuously along the light strip.

RIMA provides unlimited flexibility for designing working environments using light according to individual wishes. A luminaire like RIMA will certainly be the inspiration for various other creative uses, such as illuminating sideboards, reception counters, display stands, or impressively staging collector's items or products.

RIMA is Made in Germany with high-class craftsmanship and distributed only via carefully selected resellers to ensure it fulfilling even the most sophisticated requirements in terms of design, functionality, and product finish.
